

Corporate Overview

Across the street or around the globe, MicroTek is the leading single-source provider of business education facilities and delivery services. Whether you need to use only our global facility network, or craft an entire plan for phased training rollouts, MicroTek's services and solutions are built to be flexible and scalable. Our depth of capabilities and breadth of reach allows us to partner with you to create the right solution that meets your needs right now and in the future. From providing rental classrooms worldwide, to distributing course manuals and providing expert instructors, to logistical support and expert technical assistance, MicroTek supplies exactly what you need, exactly when and where you need it to deliver the perfect training event.

Corporate Overview

Founded in 1991, MicroTek has grown from a single training site in San Francisco to a global services company with facilities in all major U.S. and international cities. We have the largest network of locations and services in the world, and we provide a complete range of integrated business education services to ensure the comprehensive delivery of our clients' training events.

History

Since inception, MicroTek has sought the best ways to provide training services. So we turned to instructors and training professionals to learn what they needed. We learned that they need facilities with highly specialized technology and presentation rooms for successfully delivering training courses to groups of people. Based on these needs, we designed our full-service training centers, and organized customer support teams that possess the deep knowledge of the training industry necessary to meet our clients' demands. We invested in new learning tools and developed technologies to enhance our delivery of training services and we continue to provide our clients with the training delivery services they require and the flexibility they need.

deliver
training
services wherever they are needed

Integrated Services

Over the years, we've developed integrated services focused on bringing efficiency to the delivery of our clients' training courseware and assisting clients with event logistics. MicroTek training facilities offer complete flexibility - from classroom size and technology requirements to presentation equipment and catering services. On-site you will find a full-time certified technical support team, as well as full-time managerial and administrative support. Our technology and hospitality staff focuses on the entire learning experience. MicroTek's Courseware Management Service duplicates and distributes manuals, student kits, and other class items so that you have all the right materials just in time for your training events. Our Instructor Services group locates and qualifies contract instructors and manages all administrative resources. Our Meeting Services group handles important logistical details - from finding venues to contacting caterers - to arrange successful meetings and events. With our integrated services, MicroTek helps you avoid the hassles of event preparation and deliver the ideal event. MicroTek's flexible capabilities allow us to serve both Fortune 500 companies and small businesses alike. Our client list extends across all industries, from technology firms to energy, financial, and professional services companies.

Distinguished Clients

MicroTek
800.207.9620
www.mclabs.com